KNIGHTS IN LINE. BRILLIANT SCENE ON PENN. SILVANIA AVENUE.

NIGHTS-TEMPLAR PASS IN REVIEW. President on the Reviewing Stand-The Boy Commandery—The Line Three Hours in Passing.

WASHINGTON, October 8.—Knights, who were astir early this morning, glanced mournally at the sullen, threatening sky, indicative , and the chilliness of the air almost ded snow. But as the hours were away sun broke through and dissipated the ds and its cheerful rays were reflected from the bright uniforms, sparkling insignias and flaunting banners. The city wore a holl-day garb. The days of chivalry, with all their pomp and display, seemed revived, but the aspect of revival was one of peace and civili-ration, not of war and barbarism. Long cols of soldiery, with their gorgeous plumes and uniforms, galloping, mounted equerries, intering panners, martial music, the shrill nding trumpet calls, throngs of adand commanding trumpet cans, the same and commanding trumpet cans, the same and can be same an riors of the middle ages were wanting to make riors of the middle ages were wanting to make the picture complete.

Along Pennsylvania avenue the decorator had been lavish in the use of bunting, and from every window and house front flags, ban ners and the cross of the Templars were in the crisp October air. On both sides of the promenade leading to the capitol, there was a besutiful display of national colors and insignia.

THE CROWDED STREETS.

The streets of the city were thronged early in the morning with strangers and residents in the morning with strangers and residents, eager to witness the grand pageant. The Templars formed early in the morning at their various headquarters, and with bands playing marched through the crowded streets to the place of starting. Along the line of march stands had been erected for the use of families and friends of knights, and before 9 o'clock choice places had been occupied by the spectators. Windows in view of the procession were at a premium, and ladies' faces peered from each at the scenes below. The avenue had been roped in, to keep off the crowd and give full room to the knights for the display of their maneuvers. A small army of street venders crying their

A small army of street venders crying their chesp imitations of the Templar badges added to the bustle and confusion of the morning spectacle. It was predicted by friends of the Templars that the crowd present today would exceed in numbers that which witnessed the inauguration of President Harrison, but this prediction was very far from being realized. The streets were well filled with people and the progress was slow along the main thoroughfares, but by no means well nigh impassable, as was the case on the 4th of March. A moderate estimate would place the number of visitors in town at about 50,000, and these are nearly all friends of the various commanderies taking part in the parade today. The number of knights in the city has been estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000, comprising over 200 commanderies from all secprising over 200 commanderies from all sections of the country. It was thought last night that of the number here there would probably be about sixteen thousand today in line, or four thousand more than participated in the parade at the last triennial conclave in St. Louis

The Grand Procession.

Twelve divisions of procession formed in the streets adjacent to the capitol and from these side streets at the signal of command filed into line and began a long march up Pennsylvania avenue, whose broad surface was level and smooth, having been newly laid with asphalt, a short while ago. The parade will move over the line of march three and a half miles long, beginning at First and B, streets east of the capitol, thence to I street, down I to Pennsylvania avenue at the foot of the capitol and along Pennsylvania avenue, past the treasury building and white bouse to Washington circle. Here the parade will move into K street and from K street to Mount Vernon square, where the commanderiess will be disstreet and from K street to Mount Vernon square, where the commanderiess will be dis-missed. In front of the white house a stand had been erected on the same side from which the resident in March last reviewed long columns soldiery and civic organizations that formed the inaugural procession.

Eleven o'clock had been fixed upon as the time when the procession started. The line was headed by Eminent Sir Knight Myron M. Parker, of this city, chief marshal and his staff, of which Sir Knight Harrison Dingman was chief.

The sun had in the meantime broken through the clouds of earlier morning and now shone with pleasant warmth and undimmed brightness. A few minutes after the president's arrival the head of the procession filed around the corner of Fifteenth street and marched with measured tread in front of the reviewing stand where President Harrison stood. Sir Myron M. Parker, with forty-five aides on horseback, six or eight abreast, followed by Washington commanderies, headed the procession. They were accompanied by the marine band, which was the recipient of many cheers as it passed the stand. many cheers as it passed the stand.

De Molay, commandery of the district of Columbia, preceded by a squad of mounted buglers, made a fine impression. It was followed by a procession of carriages, the foremost of which contained Grand Commander Roome, who deferentially bowed to the president, who as deferentially returned the salute. Many of the officers of grand encampments, as they rode by, stood on their carriage cushions while making ther salutation to the executive of the nation.

The second division was made up entirely of New England organizations, headed by St. John's commandery No. 1, of Providence, R. 1, and all fine looking men.

The third division of New York State Templars was headed by the grand commandery of the state. Commanderies from Virginia, Delaware, Vermont, New Hampshire and Connecticut made up the fourth division. Stevenson commandery, of Staunton, headed by the Staunton band, twenty-five strong, in their bright red uniform, headed the commanderies. Richmond commandery No. 2 introduced a variation in the appearance of the parade. In the place of swords they carried long lances tipped with silver of a dull hue, and their vestments were adorned with silver facings. Another of the Virginia commanderies carried lances tipped with gold.

The fifth division was composed of commanderies carried lances tipped with gold.

The grand commandery of the state of Kentucky, headed by a band playing the sympathetic air of "My Old Kentucky Home," was greeted with a warm welcome, which broke out afresh as the DeMolay commandery of Louisville, whose band was playing the same touching strains, passed before the reviewing stand. The last named commandery is known among the Templars as the champion drill corps of the United States, and the grace of its evolutions was greatly appreciated by the admiring throng.

The sixth division contained only Pennsylvania men. In the lead came Athletic band, of Philadelphia, playing the "Star Spangled Banner," as it payed the president's stand. Next came the lettsburg commandery, No. 1, of Pittsburg, two hundred strong. Philadelphia commandery, No. 2, displayed a magnificent banner of velvet cloth, trimmed in gold, and surmounted by a large golden emblem. It was carried by five young negroes. The Pennsylvania commanderies were distinguished by their strength of muster and by splendid, costly ness and retained their positions until the end.

The eleventh division made a fine display. It was composed of representatives from Minnesota, Kansas, Maryland, Nebraska and West Virginia and the grand commanderies of Colorado and North Carolina. All marehed well, and were applauded as they passed the stand. The Maryland delegation was particularly large and imposing. Its approach was indicated by the airs "My Maryland" and, "Dixie." The twelfth division, which contained only Cyrene commandery of Sioux Falls, Dakota, Geoffrey De St. Aldemar preceptory of Toronto. and the grand commandery of Wyoming territory, terminated the procession, which consumed three hours in passing the reviewing stand. It is estimated that there were about 15,000 knights in line, but the fact that they did not march in seried column, but in pluturesque squares and crosses, tended to retard their progress. As the last band passed, as the last hats were doffed to the president and as the last salutations were courteously acknowledged, people on the sidewalk pressed forward to have a glance at Mr. Harrison. The president, however, rather wearled from the ordeal of standing for hours in the cold air most all the time without a covering to his head, immediately left the stand, and accompanied by ladies of the party, strolled across the lawn to the white house. Many strangers sought admission to the executive mansion, but were informed that they could not be received until tomorrow. The last commandery passed the presidential receiving stand at 6:30. The proecession fulfilled the remainder of its long line of march, and was finally disbanded about an hour later.

morning was the presentation to the president of the boy Knights Templar from Louisville, Ky. They were the full dress uniform of the Ky. They were the full dress uniform of the commandery, plumed chapeau, baldrick, sword etc., and made a very handsome soldierly appearance, as they marched into the east room, they were accompanied by Justice Harlan and were formally presented by him in a short address. The president addressed a few words of encouragement and compliment to the boy's and shook each by the hand. Among the mornings official callers were a committee of the National Colored Baptist association, receutly held at Indianapolis, which came to present resolutions adopted by the association, asking the president to do by the association, asking the president to do what he could towards suppressing the out-rages committed in the south upon the black men because of their color. The committee was given a careful hearing by the president, and departed expressing themselves satisfied with the result of their visit.

CARRIED HARRISON'S HOME. The Democrats in Control of Indianapolis

Once More. Indianapolis, October 8.—The city election passed off quietly with a very lightvote polled. The mayor, city clerk, board of aldermen and common council were elected. At 11 o'clock eturns from fifty precincts show that Sullivan democrat, is elected over Colburn, republican democrat, is elected over Colburn, republican, by 1,200 to 1,400. Swift democrat, for clerk, is elected over Taffe, republican, by about 800. Denny, republican, for mayor, carried the city two years ago by 776. The council elected to-day will stand fifteen democrats and ten republicans. An exact reverso of politics of that body from its present status. The board of aldermen will be five each. The present board has six republicans and four democratic. This is the first democratic mayor elected in Indianapolis since 1874.

CERTAINLY DEMOCRATIC.

Helena, Mont., October 8.—The election of Joseph K. Toole, democrat, for governor is now conceded by a majority of from 300 to 600. Carter, republican, for congress, has 1,000 majority. The democrats claim the legislature by seven. The republicans will not concede so much, but say that on the face of returns it is democratie, and claim fraud in Silver Bow and Doer Lodge counties. The general opinion is that there will be no contest, and that the democrats will have a governor and legislature. The republicans elect a congressman and a large majority of the state ticket. The Independent (democratic) claims the state senate and house by seven majority. The last of the counties in the state will make the official canvass today and it is more than likely that the result will be definitely known by this evening.

DEATH OF COMEDIAN BISHOP.

He Dies Suddenly in His Dressing Room at the Lyceum Theater.

NEW YORK, October 8.—After the first scene of "Lord Chumley," at the Lyceum theater, this evening, E. H. Sothern appeared before the audience and announced that Charles B. the audience and announced that Charles B. Bishop, who had a few moments before been acting a prominent part, had suddenly died in his dressing room, while changing his costume. The audience was then dismissed. Mr. Bishop's wife was with him when he died and was prostrated by the shock. A coroner's permit was obtained and the body removed to the home of the diseased.

James Murray, an English coal miner, was shot through the heart and instantly killed, in a saloon in this city. The shooting was done by John Kelley, a mine boss and ex-marshalof the town of Warrior, The men had a quarrel yesterday which was renewed this morning, when friends interfered. An hour later Kelley met Murray in a saloon and without a word shotthim dead. Kelley is in jail.

The North Carolina Synod.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., October 8.—[Special.]
The North Carolina synod of the Presbyterian church convened in annual session in the First Presbyterian church here tonight, with about one hundred delegates and preachers present. More will arrive tonight and tomorrow morning. The synod will be in session one week, banners which they carried. These commanderies all dipped their colors in honor of the president, although sometimes the effort to do so was evidently painful to the banner bearers. The banner of Kadoosh commandery of Philadelphia was borne by a single knight, and he attempted to lower it as he passed the stand, but the task proved too much for him and he was compelled to call for assistance.

The seventh division was composed of commanderies from Indiana and Michigan and the grand commandery of Texas. The Indiana men all lowered their banners and doffed their hats as they passed the president.

Illinois took up the whole of the eighth division, and had twenty-eight separate commanderies in line, with Apollo commandery, to C. I, of chicago, on the right. St. Bernach, the crack drill commandery of the state, attracted universal attention. It was preceded by the royal Canadian band, of Toronto, and carried a live eagle presented to them by the Golden Gate commandery of San Francisco, three years ago. The famous goat of Ma sonic tradition was led by a young colored boy behind the Englewcod commandery.

The long procession had wearied spectators, and there were signs of impatience manifested at this time, which soon, however, gave way to the feeling of lively interest as the California knights moved in sight on the right of the ninth division, headed by forty-two members of California commandery No. I, of San Francisco, mounted on coal black chargers. Their white silk. There was a flutter of handkerchiefs and some applause as Golden Gate commandery, of San Francisco, mounted on coal black chargers. Their white silk. A small live black bear, surnamed "Zerubabbe," (the friend of our youth) was perched on a box in a wagon, which moved in advance of their ranks.

The committee on consecration of bishops reported in favor of giving the consent of the house to the consecration of Rev. William Leonard, D. D., as assistant bishop of Ohio and of Rev. Thomas Frederick Davis, D. D., as bishop of Michigan, and asked that the report be made the order of the day at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Agreed to. Among the resolutions introduced and referred was one providing for the appointment of deaconesses. Another provides that short service be prepared for the use of the colored people, that requirements for admission to orders be modified in the case of colored deacons and Presbyterians and that suffrogan bishops of the African race may be appointed in dioceses where it may be deemed advisable and the bishop of the diocese consents.

This resolution was referred to the special committee on memorials relating to the colored people, and messages from the house of bishops were received, announcing concurrence on the action in the house of deputies in the report on colored people and the mission of new diocesses in Colorado and Oregon.

then took up the order of the day, which was the report of the committee on the judicial the report of the committee on the judicial system of the church. In this report, the majority of the committee consisting of J. S. B. Hodges, chairman; C. Stuart Patterson, secretary; C. G. Swope, S. C. Thrall, H. Stringfellow, Alfred Mills and Hill Burgwin, state that only two modes exist for obtaining the relief of which all seem to admit the necessity, one is that the general convention recommit to dioceses for adoption by them the canon for the trial of clergymen, making provision both for courts of the first instance and for courts of appeal. The other is that the general convention change article of the constitution, and then enact a uniform instance and for courts of appeal. The other is that the general convention change article 6 of the constitution, and then enact a uniform canon for the whole church. The committee decided that the first plan would be unbecoming and undignified in the convention, and an unwarrantable interference with diocessen independence and practically fruitless. The second plan proposed is pronounced the only regular, direct and reasonable mode of providing a remedy for the admittedly deplorable condition of the accent system as to the form which the change should take. Two plans have been advocated. One was that the general convention have power to establish only courts of appeal without interferring with the present mode of trial in court of the first instance instituted by the respective dioceses. The other was that the change be unrestrictive, so that the general convention may either establish courts of appeal only; or, if that be found impracticable or ineffective, it may establish an uniform and complete system throughout all the dioceses.

The committee of these two plans finds the second the only practicable one. The committee recommended that a commission be formed to draft two canons for consideration in the next general convention—one providing for a system of appellate courts only, and the other for a uniform system of trial in all the diocesses, in-appellate courts only, and the other for a un-form system of trial in all the dioceses, in-cluding courts of appeal. The committee formulated and presented a canon covering the entire procedure in the trial of clergymen, accompanying it with an explanation that the canon is merely offered to show the lines upon which such canon might be constructed. The committee also presented the following resolucommittee also presented the following resolution:

Resolved, 1. The beuse of bishops concurring that the third clause of article 6 of the constitution be so altered that it rend as follows:

In every dioges the mode of trying presbyters and deacons may be instituted by the convention of the diogest until the general convention shall otherwise provide.

2. That this proposed alteration be made known to the diogest and be laid before the ensuing general convention of the diogest and be laid before the ensuing general convention from a traifaction.

The minority report was signed by James C. Smith, of western New York, and Frank H. Miller, of Georgia. They concur in the opinion that a change in the judicial system is desirable to the extent of providing a reviewing tribunal. They are not of opinion that the proper and only practicable method of effecting such a change is by legislative act; of this body. Or that an alteration of article six of the constitution is necessary. They express the belief that each diocess is competent to provide for its complete system of judicature, including a suitable court of revision and that the "practical difficulties in the way of establishing a court of appeal by the general convention, are so serious that they cannot be overcome."

Mr. Hill Burgwin, delegate from Pittsburg, and a member of the committee, spoke in favor of the majority report.

Mr. Burgwin had not concluded his address when the hour fixed for recess had come.

when the hour fixed for recess had come. THE MINORITY REPORT.

The result of the executive session was the immediate confirmation of Rev. Doctors W. A. Leonard, of Washington, and Thomas F. Davies, of Philadelphis, as bishops of southern Ohio and Michigan dioceses respectively. The house then listened to a continuation of the discussion of the judicial system, relative to the institution of an appellate court. A minority report was submitted by Z. D. Harrison, of Georgia, which excited the indignation of Dr. Nelson, of Virginia.

"We are told," said he, "that our clergy need more defense, but should they be put upon the plane of a thief or a criminal? If a lawyer or a naval officer who is tried before his peers, is acquitted on technical grounds, his reputation is gone, and a clergyman would not have more. If this resolution is passed, instead of enlarging his rights you will cut them off. We do not need uniformity in ecclesiastical any more than in civil affairs. Upon the subject of divorce and a hundred other things we have different views. Even if we give this court, it is simply impossible while there lives Angle-Saxons to encreach upon the liberty of thought by such judicial uniformity."

Others who spoke in favor of the resolution, were Judge Pierson, of Alabama; Rev. Mr. Parks, of Connecticut, and Mr. Fairbanks, of Florida.

The convention then adjourned.

The committee appointed to nominate trustees of the general theological seminary named the following: Rev. Drs. Hawes of Pennsylvania, Cott of New Hampshire, Astwill of Ohio, King of Long Island, Mills of New Jorsey, and W. H. Burgwin of North Carolina.

The appointment of joint committee to examine the condition of the colored people in the south is as follows: Rev. Drs. Phillip Brooks of Massachusetts, Bird of Florida, Stringfellow of Tennessee, Vibbert of Chicago, McConnell of Louisians, Wilmer of Maryland, Stortsenburg of Indians, Morgan of New York, and Wilder of Minnesota.

The South Americans at Portland, Main

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 9, 1889,

The South Americans at Portland, MaineVisiting the Mills.

Portland, Me., October 8.—The international excursion party spent last night on their cars, and woke up this morning at Manchester. N. H. They spent the forencon among the great cotton mills, and after luncheon started for Portland. From the display of Manchester's combined product of manufacture each foreign delegate took away samples and price lists. When the special train had started on its four-hour journey to this city there was a busy scene in each car. The foreigners had tables set each in his section, and for the first time since the beginning of the trip the North Americans witnessed the systematic methods of the Central and South Americans. The samples of goods and cloths that had been secured were spread out. Secretaries were then employed in writing quick, brief memoranda and comments, dictated by their chiefs, and as the work went forward, the impressions or remarks of the delegates concerning each of the various products, when committed to paper, were fastened to their respective samples and packed away for reference and for future use.

The bustle and frolic which are senrely separable from the outset of so large and so genial a party on a journey of length, has now nearly worn itself out. The expedition has lost the air of a junketing tour and assumes the complexion of a business journey. Portland was reached at 4 o'clock, After a drive around the city and a reception, the party were entertained at dinner, to which two hundred guests sat down, and at 11 o'clock the travelers started for Worcester, Mass.

I want to ask you if the rumor is true that you said that I (Jackson) demanded an explanation of you, and you refused to give it.

Whereupon, I said I did not say that you demanded an explanation of me and I refused to give it, but I did repeat the conversation as it occurred between us, to my friends.

Mr. Jackson then said: Then you did not say that I demanded an explanation from you. I said, no. I was standing with a cigar in my left hand and with my overcoat on leaning carelessly against the wall.

I did not anticipate the slightest trouble from Mr ackson.

I had passed him several times since the difference between us began.

He had printed a card in the Atlanta papers over his own signature, in which he said there was no trouble between us, and I am sure I had given him no occasion to have trouble with me.

While this conversation was going on, as detailed above, suddenly and without the slightest notice to me, he struck me a staggering blow on the left eye.

He knocked me down and dezed me for a moment.

He knocked me down and dazed me for a moment. As soon as I recovered myself friends had interfered and prevented further trouble.

Now I am creditably informed that Mr. Jackson has circulated the report that he knocked me down and that I ran from him through the billiard room. There is no redress for me in this matter unless I consent to trot around Alabama, a party to a farce that this man is a hero in, which I will not under any circumstances be guilty of and I am them. any circumstances be guilty of, and I am, therefore, left to this statement to the public. I denounce Mr. Thomas Cobb Jackson's conduct in calling me aside to assault me as cowardly and totally unjustifiable. I denounce his statement as above set forth as the lying, vaporing of a bully.

THE HANGING WILL NOT TAKE PLACE Charlie Thompson Secures Another Lease

GRIFFIN, Ga., October 7.—[Special.]—Charlie Thompson will not hang Friday. Sheriff Connell has been ordered by Judge Boynton to make no preparation for the execution. A motion has been made for a new trial in his case which Judge Boynton has been unable to hear, on account of other duties, up to this week, and, being engaged at Pike superior court, he has issued an order granting a reprieve until the latter part of this week, when he will hear argument for the new trial. There is scarcely any likelihood of the granting him another trial, but even then he will not hang for a long time, as his case will be carried to the supreme court by his attorneys. It was a clear case of murder and the county will be rid of further expense in the case. MISSISSIPPI BUSINESS MEN PROTEST by the Israelites.

FEAST OF THE TABERNACLES.

The Israelites of Atlanta will commence the celebration of the beautiful feast of tabernacies this evening after sunset, and divine service will be held at the synagogue at 7:30 o'clock.

This feast has a two fold significance.

It has been instituted by divine command in remembrance of the dwelling of Israel in tabernacies or huts during their forty years' wanderings in the desert under the guidnance of their leader and lawgiver, Moses. It should remind present israel how wonderfully God shielded and protected their forefathers, and excite their gratitude for His past favors, and it should induce them to beseech God Almighty to guard them and lead them as Ho did their fathers at all times and at all ages.

The further significance attached to the feast was that of thanksgiving festival and one of merry making after the gathering of the grape and the harvesting of all other fruits.

The satisfaction of having successfully gathered in the fruits of the field, on which every human being depends, moves the Israelites to give fervent thanks to the Great Giver of all for the blessings of the ended year, and are reminded to provide for those who are poor and unsuccessful in the harvest of life.

On Thursday morning service will commence at those who are poor and unsuccessful in the barvest of life.

On Thursday morning service will commence at 9:30 o'clock, when psalms of thanksgiving will be chanted and sung, and the branch of the palm tree and the citron—hadar in Hebrew—will be layed on the altar—a symbol of the ripe fruits of the harvest. The suglect of Rabbi Reien's discourse for tonight will be "The Tabernacle of Peace."

All are invited.

THE PEABODY SCHOLARSHIPS.

Judge Hook Makes Two Appointments of Brilliant Students.

Judge Hook yesterday appointed Miss Virginia M. Speer and Mr. W. T. Aydelott to fill vacancies in the state scholarships at the Peabody institute, which were made by the resignation of Mr. Carl Thompson and Mr. Johns.

In choosing the new names for the scholarships Judge Hook chose those which stood next in rank on the list of examinations. Mr. Thompson resigned because since passing his examination he has decided to enter the University of Georgia. Mr. Johns will complete his education at Mercer college. Johns will complete his education at Mercer college, Miss Speer, one of the new appointees, resides in Roopville, Carroll county. She is a very bright young lady, and only missed one of the scholar-ships in the first instance by a very small per cente age. Mr. Aydelott also passed an exceedingly creditable examination, and was delighted at the opportunity offered him of completing his educanewly created office. The telegraph service, and such of the traffic and mochanical departments and reports from the superintendents as are classified in his department, will be reported to him, and through him the general manager will receive the reports of that department.

No one has yet been appointed to fill the position of chief engineer of maintenance. His duties, however, will be to attend to everything appertaining to the road department. Bridges, crossings, depots, etc., will come under his supervision, and the road masters will report to him. So will the superintendents and other officers report to him anything originating in their department, but which must be disposed in the office of engineer of the maintenance of ways.

By the appointment of these officers a head is placed at each department, and if the general manager has business with any department he operates through one man. Mr. Gabbett's headquarters will be in Savannah, and from there, as herefore, the Central will be handled.

Cured by Cuticura

About two years ago I was attacked with an inflammatory disease of my face (petyriasis), which was very troublesome, being extremely itchy and painful, glying rise to the production or small branlike scales. My general health was affected by it.
I used the Cuticura Resolvent, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap according to directions, and experienced a change from the very first day; they worked wonderfully, and by their continued use for about fire months I was completely cured. I have unbounded faith in the Cuticura Remedies, and can speak of them from personal experience. I regard the Cuticura Resolvent as the very best blood purifier; a trial will convince any one. The Cuticura Soap is the best in the market, and would be cheap at twice its present price. I shall use no other for the tollet and bath. With the prevalence of skin diseases among us as a people (and they are the most difficult to deal with) I regard the Cuticura Remedies of more important and intrinsic value to the world than any other medicine now before the public.
They are designed to be a national blessing. Wishing you every success in a work so philanthropic, I am, with deep gratitude.

ONE OF THE SUBSTITUTES FOR THE ORIGINAL OLIVE BILL TAKEN UP YESTERDAY.

tute-Mr. Glenn, of Whitfield, Speaks Against It-Mr. Olive Begins His Speech The special order yesterday was No. 125riginally the Olive bill

The special order yesterday was 100 containally the Olive bill.

It will be remembered that besides the Olive bill proper there are now two substitutes properly before the house.

There are only two, for the simple reason that the rules of the house prescribe that no more than two can be considered at one time.

Mr. Olive, the author of the original bill, has prepared a substitute for his own bill, and this has been read for the information of the house.

But until one of the other substitutes is disposed of, the author's substitute for his own bill has no place in the discussion.

The only one of the substitutes upon which any definite action has yet been taken is the one re-definite action has yet been taken is the one re-ported adversely by the railroad committee. It was closely in line with the original bill, and was offered by Judge Harris, of Floyd.

THE BERNER SUBSTITUTE.

The house went into committee of the whole yesterday forenoon for the consideration of the bill.

Mr. Patterson, of Bibb, was called to the chair.

The question arose as to which of the substitutes took precedence, and the chair ruled that the Berner substitute—by Mr. Berner, of Monroe—came first.

A second later Mr. Glenn, of Whitfield, was upon his feet.

MR. GLENN, OF WHITFIELD, MR. GLENN, OF WHITFIELD, opposed the bill. It was a strong speech, dealing plainly with the issues involved. It was listened to throughout with close attention.

"These great corporations," said he, "must be controlled. That proposition is established. But controlled. That proposition is established. But the question we are now to deal with is, how shall they be controlled? The measures before this house today make the distinct issue. I want to state the question fairly. The manaperand method by which these measures now offered tend to deal with this question is to step inside these corporations and deal with them there—to deal with them in their most intimate inside relations. I say that idea is presented by these bills. How shall they be dealt with? That is the only new question presented. Shall we undertake to be the panens patrae, the guardian, the overlooker of each and every corporation in this state, not only to deal with it so far as it touches the public, but to go inside and deal with its private character?

ration in this state, not only to deal with it so far as it touches the public, but to go inside and deal with its private character?

Itake the most striking feature—the railroad corporation. A railroad is a private corporation upon the one hand; upon the other hand it is a public corporation. These two expressions are equally true, because each one of them is applicable to the different phases of this question. A railroad corporation exercises, by virtue of the charter, a part of the sovereignty of the state. It takes private property for its own use upon making compensation therefor: it runs its road where it pleases. It makes such rules as it sees proper, subject only to the control of the law. It deals with all classes of people, and all have a right to call upon it for its services—all have a right to see that it does not discriminate, and that its rates shall not be extortionate. The railroad has been the most powerful factor in American civilization. They have dissolved every monepoly that fate has established in favor of shy section, except two. They have only inflied to touch the monopolies of situation and of climate. With those two exceptions they have made equal every locality. No matter where the product may be produced, it is practically treated as at the door of the consumer. Even countries that were sterile, by this natura distribution of products, it has cause to bloom and blossom like the rose. It is impossible to estimate its powerful effect. Like every other agency, it has not only its bright but its dark side. Like everything else that comes into being, it brings not only its light but its shadows; and the shadow is that which in cant parlance is oiteu called the "railroad problem." There are two reasons why that problem is so complex: First, on account of its gigantic proportions. Another reason is that falls under two separate and distinct jurisdictions. Congress has the power to resulate commerce among the states, and the sia es have the power to regulate their inside affairs. The two t I take the most striking feature—the railroad cor-one is an established fact; the other is an untried experiment; an unknown hazerd.

What do these gentlemen say that these bills are intended to accomplish? To preserve competition? To prevent memopoly? Is that all? No. Why do you wish them not to be consolidated? It is to prevent them from injuring the people of the state at large. What we seek is not competition simply, but the result of competition.

You want two things; two things only are sough, to be reached by a legislation against corporations.

but the result of competition.

You want two things: two things only are sough, to be reached by a legislation against corporations. What are they? First, we wish no discrimination in railroad rates; second, no extortion. That is why you desire competition.

Let us revert to the history of the past and see whether or not that is true. Has there been a case, Mr. Chairman, where two railroads did compete with each other—two parallel competitive lines? I assert, without the fear of successful contradiction, that it has led to one or the other of these alternativer: First, a ruinous rate war, ending in bankruptcy, and thereby injuring not only the corporation itself, but the people who patronize them. Second, the actual consolidation, the bringing of the two together so that they no longer compete, resulting, if not in an actual consolidation, in an agreement for a rate pool or something of that sort, the effect of which is, although no real combination takes place, to produce all the effects of one. I assert that there can be found no case in which those results have not followed. It is a magnificent theory, and a beautiful one to believe in, that if competition can be kept up these results will follow. Now, Mr. Chairman, competition is not the uitimate end; the object is to control these corporations on the line in which the people are interested—that is my proposition. To recur: What are we interested in railroad transportation? We are interested in secular that they shall not be discriminative; next, that they shall not be discriminative; next, that they shall not be extortionate.

Now, beyond those two things, Mr. Chairman, terested in their rates, and in their rates alone. We are interested in seeing that those rates conform to two requirements; first, that they shall not be discriminative; next, that these rates shall not be extortionate.

Now, beyond those two things, Mr. Chairman, what earthly interest, what right juiting it not on the question of legal right but above the mere letters of the law), what right, Mr. Chairman, have we to go beyond that to control them on those matters in which the people have no interest whatever? What right have we to become a stockholder in that corporation; not only a sockholder, but a controlling stockholder; not only to assist in their management; to say what coutracts they shall make, and what arrangements they shall indulge in, what traffic arrangements they shall make with other railroads, and what stock they shall buy? None, except so far as it bears upon the rate question. Why, Mr. Chairman, go simply at the secondary and not at the ultimate result? The ultimate result is not simply to control corporations. We care nothing for them. That is immaterial whether they are controlled or not, unless they are injuring the people, and the control would be harmful unless it resulted in benefit to both. This bill stops at the question of control. I say, go beyond the secondary; go to the ultimate, go to the final question in which we are interested and control their rates.

Mr. Chairman, an argument has been derived from the constitution of this state, and the genilemen say to me that those are the general principles in which we agree; but here is the constitution of the state that ways we shall do this, the constitution in not mandatory upon us to pass any such legislation. It merely provides that the legislature shall not authorize corporations to purchase stock in or assume control over another corporporation if the effect of such legislation be to create monopoly or discourage competition.

Were any such legislation as this asked for in behalf of any corporation, then every member would be bo vested in such enterprise. It means ruin to the investor and paralysis to the state: The only aske and practical field for legislation is the public relations of these corporations, those wherein they enter into and become a part of the life and progress of the people at large. Beyond that it is neither aske or expedient to go, and can only result in harm to the corporations affected and the very people in whose benefit this legislation is invoked. Therefore, I feel that the bill and substitute should be voted down and that the motion to indefinitely postpone should prevail.

the bill and substitute should be voted down and that the motion to indefinitely postpone should prevail.

MR. OLIVE, OF OGLETHORPE, the author of the original bill, followed Mr. Glenn. He spoke for over an hour, and will conclude his speech today.

Mr. Olive quoted at some length from various legal decisions to support his bill. The most important decision is one in the Texas supreme court reports. Mr. Olive stated that no less than ten state decisions had been rendered which supported his position. A similar decision had been rendered in tengland.

Mr. Olive then read a decision in the 40th Georgia, page 628. This was where the case in which the Central railroad, as a corporation, sought to control the Savannah, Florida and Western (then the Atlantic and Guil) by the purchase of over 3,800 shares of its slock.

Mr. Olive then laborated the idea that the clause in the constitution which his bill incorporates as a basis, was more than the opinion of a few master minds in the convention—that the constitution, that section included, had been ratified by a popular vote.

"They tell us," said Mr. Olive, "to wait until an overt act is committed before passing any such legislation."

Mr. Olive then Took up the idea that overt acts had been committed. He cited the case in which the Atlanta chamber of commerce, in 1886, had appealed to the railroad commission for relief against the Southern Steamship and Passenger association. The commission decided they had no jurisdiction over the issues involved.

Mr. Olive will resume his argument this morning No Appropriate 1850000 and

NO APPROPRIATION.

NO APPROPRIATION.

The bill by Dr. Felton, to appropriate $15,000 annually to the state university, beginning 1891, wasiost yesterday in the house.

The bill, it will be remembered, was reported back favorably by the committee of the whole by a vote of 78 to 47.

Yesterday, however, only 70 votes could be mustered for the bill.

There will hardly be a motion made for reconsideration, and the resuli yesterday ends the matter so far as this legislature is concerned.

Before the vote was saken Dr. Felton made an eloquent and stirring last appeal.

No other speeches were made.

The result is attributed mainly to a general antiappropriation panic that has siezed hold of the legislature.

Mrny of those inclined to go to the extreme of voting an appropriation, were shaken by the argument that the action was premature, not going into stature.

Mrny of those inclined to go to the extreme of voting an appropriation, were shaken by the argument that the action was premature, not going into effect until after the next legislature adjourned that they could save themselves from an appropriation by saddling it on the next legislature—and were swapt off in the panic.

Extreme sectional influences united in undermining ine goneral support of the bill.

It happened, in addition to all this, that a considerable number of the very strongest supporters of the bill were absent.

Mr. Hart, of Greene, had been called home by the filness of his wife. Mr. Huff, of Ribb, was absent. Mr. Matthews, of Houston, and Mr. McIntyre, of Thomas, were away. Mr. Glenn, of Whitfield, and Mr. Allred, of Pickens, reached the city too late to vote. Mr. Collier, Mr. Davis, of Elbert, Mr. Olive, of Early, and several others who voted in committee of the whole to report back favorably, and are known to be strongly in favor of the bill. were absent.

The combination of circumstances was peculiarly unfortunate and the result is a misfortune to the unfortunate and the result is a misfortune to the state.

Kill everything that looks like an appropriation? That's the motio of the legislature. Good, bad or indifferent—kill it! Following their policy in refusing to pass the university appropriation bill, the house did another remarkable thing.

Mr. Park, chairman pro-tem of the agricultural committee, had introduced a bill to appropriate 3,500 for the furnishing of the agricultural committee, had introduced a bill to appropriate were the only ones that had not been furnished by the commission. All the furniture low in these rooms was either gathered from the rubbish of furniture brought from the old capitol or was private property brought from the homes of the department officials.

He showed that new furniture was an absolute necessity; that agricultural and other natural specimens were stowed away promiscuously because there were no showcases or shelves, and that most of the scanity furniture there now, being private property, was liable to be taken away at any moment.

The bill had been drawn at the request of the WIDOWS OF CONFEDERATES.

An important bill passed the house yesterday by a unantmous vote.

It was the bill—already printed in detail in The CONSTITUTION—to amend the state constitution so as to pension the widows of confederate soldiers. Governor Gordon recommended this some time ago in a message to the legislature. A joint committee was appointed to consider the matter, and Mr. Johnson, of Jones, as chairman of the committee, devoted his time and thought to the framing of the-bill.

It passed by a vote of 137 to 0.

WHEN they find how rapidly health is restored by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The reason is that this saparilla. The reason is that this preparation contains only the purest and most powerful alteratives and tonics. To thousands yearly it proves a veritable elixir of life.

Mrs. Jos. Lake, Brockway Centre, Mich., writes: "Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an in my condition, my appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life, and I cannot thank you too much."

new lease of life, and I cannot thank you too much."

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Brockway Centre, Mich., hereby certify that the above statement, made by Mrs. Lake, is true in every particular and entitled to full credence."—O. P. Chamberlain, G. W. Waring, C. A. Wells, Druggist.

"My brother, in England, was, for a long time, unable to attend to his occupation, by reason of sores on his foot. I sent him Ayer's Almanac and the testimonials it contained induced him to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using it a little while, he was cured, and is now a-well man, working in a sugar mill at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia."—A. Attewell, Sharbot Lake, Ontario.

Mr. Charles Beerman, proprietor of the Kimball, petitioned the council to change the ordinance regulating barbershops on Sunday so that he might keep his open on Sunday during the exposition. "I move that that petition be granted." said Mr. Hirsch.

Hirsch.

"Oh, pshaw," remarked Mr. Woodward, dropping his pen; "that's wrong. Only last year we had a petition just like it hore, and we granted it. And what was the result pray? Why every other barber came up with a petition asking us to rescind and have the shops shut up on Sunday. I meve to table that petition and Mr. Hirsch's motion with it." The motion to table was lost. "I move," said Mr. Middlebrooks, "that the matter be referred to the palice committee with power.

Mr. Middlebrooks, however, withdrew his mo-

"I think we have no business to pass that resolution," said Mr. Woodward. "It's the only rest day the barber has, and we shouldn't take it away from him. I think if you can't get shaved Saturday, like I do, you can go unshaved on Sunday, as I sometimes do.
"If the law is changed," said Mr. Hirsch, "the barber who don't want to keep open can close up." Mr. Meador favored granting the petition during the exposition.

deposit a check in payment of one-third of the prorata part of the streets named in petition on which permanent improvements have been placed—the work to be commenced within ninety days and to be completed wholly by September 1, 1890.

"The report," continued Mr. Woodward after reading so much," protects the citylagainst all liability. The company is not to use

Hon. Aaron Haas, of the Atlanta S.reet Carcompany, was present, and through a suspension of the rules unanimously given took the floor, "Of course," said he, "the Atlanta street car company is opposed to another track on Broad street. Now, when we had that track there we agreed to take it up because THE GENERAL COUNCIL OPENS THE BARBER SHOPS ON SUNDAY. The Western Atlanta Street Railway Granted

The members had just given him a pleasant relcome upon his return home, and he felt very much at ease. The meeting was an interesting and lively one, and was attended by the full representa-tion except Mr. Mecaslin, of the aldermanic board, and Mr. Amorous and Mr. Inman,

Mr. McLendon favored the Woodward ordinance, saying it was a happy solution of the question.

Mr. Hirsch wanted to strike out Forsyth street.

"If that is done," said Mr. Meador, "the new line will have to condemn the Atlanta line on Whitehall street."

Mr. Haas offered as an amendment that the report be favorable only on streets named, provided work is begun in ninety days and completed by first September, 1890, and that this grant shall not prevent a similar grant to any other company at any time on any of said streets. Provided further, that each and every condition imposed upon or requirement made of Fulton County Street Railroad company, or any other company, be imposed on petitioners, including the erection of guard wires above the electric wires that such company may erect or use.

After that this body can concreasing the board, after that this body can concreasing the board. The report was adopted by a vote of eleven to one-Mr. Haas gave notice that he would move a recon. sideration.

Mr. McLendon gave notice that he would move a reconsideration as to the two tracks on Broad street.

An ordinance requiring wholesale liquor houses to close at ten p. m. was adopted.

"If remember correctly," said Mr. Haas, who is full of a bal cold, and quite hoarse, "the law as it now stands says that each ward shall have two representatives on the board of education. The sixth ward now has three members besides Mayor Glenn. One ward is certainly not entitled to more than another, and I don't see how we can grant the request to retain Captain Lowry, and do so legally. If we want to keep Captain Lowry on the board of education, let's first change the law, and keep him there legally." "I say that the paper ought to be referred to the ordinance committee," said Mr. Woodward. "It should go there so that an ordinance can be drawn BURIED IN A DITCH. Cora Van Tassel.

The opera house was comfortably filled last night to witness Miss Cora Van Tassel impersonate "The Little Sinner." The play is one of the old-fashioned sort, where after four acts of harrowing situations the villain is defeated and the hero vindicated in the fifth. Miss Van Tassel acted well, and her dancing especially, gave great pleasure. Her support was also good. The villain being far better than usual, and a comical villain as well. Effie Ellsler.

Commencing next Thursday evening, October 10th, Effie Elisler will appear at the opera house three nights and matinee in the following reper-toire: "Thursday evening, "The Governess;" Fri-day evening, "Merze;" Saturday evening, "Egypt," and for the matinee, "The Governess." Miss Ellsler is an artiste of no common dramatic ability, which shows quite as much in the stronger situations as in the quieter scenes of her performances, when her intense naturalness and easy avoidance of overaction display no little amount of study and a good comprehension of the rules of her art. This ease and naturalness of her acting is what gives to this gifted actress her greatest charm. The character of the herofine, in her now play, "The Governess," is said to give her many opportunities to show her real strength, and that she makes the most of them there is no doubt. The play is described as being an intensely interesting one, replete with novel situations, particularly in the second act. The denouements, original and unconventional, furnishes Miss Elisler and the principal characters great opportunities for artistic work. The supporting company is one of unusual excellence, including the well known and popular actor, Frank Weston, Mr. Ortin Johnson, and the veteran actor and manager, John A. Elisler. Among the ladies are the names of Misses La Verne, Butler and the "wonderful child actress," Little Gracie Sherwood. her intense naturalness and easy avoidance of over-MR. HOWELL FOR ATLANTA.

"The general council is empowered," said Mr. Howell, "to amend any law or make any law which has for its object the good of Atlanta. This petition is from the people—the very people, too, who are most interested, and they should be heard. It is our plain duty to take it, investigate it carefully and report back. Captain Lowry's record has been made and is known—and it is a good one. Now I say let the ordinance committee have this paper, investigate the matter carefully, and report the increase as desired. Then we can elect any one we want, whether it be Captain Lowry or some other good man."

THE CONTRACT AWARDED

Macon, Ga., October 8.—(Special.)—Today the Macon Construction company, of the Macon and Birmingham railroad, are receiving bids to build the first sixty-five miles of the road from Macon to the Georgia Midland. These sixty-five miles must be graded and the track laid, and completed in every particular, within six months. Bids for the constructing of the balance of the road will be received. The Macon Construction company is the organization that has had such marvelous success in building the Georgia Southern and Florida railway. It is understood that the Macon Construction company have at their command all the money necessary to build the Macon and Birmingham road. The track will be of the heaviest and best steel rails, and the rolling stock of the most improved and handsomest pattern in the state. It is the intention of the management to make the Macon and Birmingham the handsomest equipped and best built road in the south. Through connection will be made at Birmingham with Kansas City. At Macon it will connect with the Georgia Southern and Florida. The Macon Construction company also expect to extend the Macon and Birmingham from Macon to Savannah, but work on the Savannah division will not be commenced until the Macon and Birmingham is completed. President Sparks, of the Macon Construction company, has assurances that he can receive all the northern capital desired for the rapid completion of the road from Birmingham to Macon and Birmingham is completed. A INCIDENT, And the Facts Connected With It-How is It With You?

This is an age of progress, when the man or woman struggling for prominence or to acquire a competency, must lay aside the traditions of the past and leave the well worn paths of generations gone before. On every hand we see the success attending those who have taken this as their motto. But to attain this we must use sound judgment, and to do that it is absolutely necessary to have an active mind in a healthy body.

Not more than one-half of the present generation are free from disease, and a very large percentage are free from disease, and a very large percentage are afflicted with some disease of the rectum, (piles, fistula, fissure, etc.) and still fall to apply for treat ment, because some "medical man" who should have lived two centuries ago, has told them they cannot be cured. Science laughs at the idea, and progress gives us the means of curing all these troubles without pain and without inconvenience. If in your business you were to find a leak that was bringing you to financial bankruptcy, how quickly you would endeavor to stop it; but you neglect a disease that will certainly bring you to physical bankruptcy, destroy your hopes for the future, and make you a burden to yourself and your friends, Can you afford to do this, when I place within your reach a safe, easy and effectual way of curing your troubles? Taking progress as my motto, I have laid aside all the ancient, painful and unsatisfactory means formerly employed and treat all cases by a radical treatment appropriate to each case, thereby restoring you to health and happiness. Devoting my entire time to treating this class of diseases, may I not ask your consideration of my claims to your attention, promising you a cure if you are still within the reach of medicine? For full particulars, consult or write me, and I will take great pleasure in giving you any information you may wish.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 23, 1889.—We beg to announce that we have appointed Mr. L. Stuart, No. 38 South Broad street, Atlanta, Ga., sole agent for the Belle of Nelson whisky in cases and in barrels. In this connection we assure the people of Atlanta that the Belle of Nelson whisky is made precisely as whisky was before the war. It is produced entirely by hand, there being no picce of macninery, except the still, in the cuttre house. It is almost perfectly free from fusile oil, and consequently for medical, family or bar use, there can be nothing superior.

Mr. Suart will keep on hand the Belle of Nelson, bottled at the distillery, fifteen years old, and it only requires a taste to satisfy and one of its age and quality. Very respectfully, sep 25 4 wed. BARTLEY JOHNSON & CO.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION 82 A YEAR. SENT TO ANY ADDRESS

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 9, 1889.

The Marietta and North Georgia Extension.

The action of the senate yesterday in overwhelmingly voting to authorize the extension of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad to Atlanta. means that, as far as legislation is concerned, this road will soon be be relieved of any obstacle in the way of such extension.

Senator du Bignon, in moving the amendment authorizing the extension to Atlanta, made one of the strongest speeches of the session in its support, and his activity in the matter entitles him to the gratitude of the section of the state directly dependent on that road. Senator Rice likewise actively interested himself in supporting the measure, as did Senators Hall, Whitfield. Bartlett, Julian, Strother and others, whose good work was shown in the vote.

The house has always favored this extension and there has not been a time in the last three years that, on a full vote, it would not have authorized it. Mr. Howell pressed the matter vigorously in the last legislature, and on every vote succeeded in getting a majority of the votes cast, but the measure could never be brought before a house sufficiently full in attensance to enable it to receive the necessary constitutional majority, 88 votes. At one time this session the extension bill, again introduced, showed a strength of seventy votes in the house with only forty-three against it and sixty-two absentees, a majority of whom would have supported it had they been present. It was cessary to table the bill to protect it.

Now that the senate has amended another house bill of Mr. Howell's, by adding to it the Atlanta extension feature, it will only take a majority of those voting to concur in it when it gets back to the house. Thus the friends of the measure in the house are relieved of the disadvantage of having to get a constitutional majority, and when they get it up again the side that shows the most strength wins.

This means that the house will agree to the senate amendment, and will wipe out the blot that the last legislature left when Iterefused to authorize this extension. It was a disgrace to the liberal sentiment of the state and has been regarded as such throughout the state.

A Great Day at the Exposition.

Tomorrow (Thursday) will be the first really big day of the exposition. The cheap rate of one cent a mile will be in force on all the roads; every feature of the exposition will be in first class order, and every attractive item on the programme of amuse ments will be given that day.

Besides, it will be the drummers and merchants' day. The grounds will be turned over to Atlanta post of the T. P. A., who will welcome their friends, the merchants of the Piedmont states, and will lunch them at the Piedmont club house.

The programme will be a full one. There will be in the morning the Wild West show, the horse ring, the dairy in operation, the balloon ascension, splendid races in the afternoon, and at night the first display of the great inter-national pyrotechnic contest.

Thursday will be a great day, and thousands will come in from outside towns and cities. We predict a crowd of twenty-five thousand people in the grounds on Thurs-

A Bad Man's Grit.

Very few people who are acquainted with the facts of the case doubt the guilt of Father Boyle, now under sentence of death at Raleigh, N. C., for a felonious assault upon a young lady.

And yet, in spite of this man's black record, and the evidence against him, he has friends, and a strong effort will be made to save him from the gallows. The sympathy felt for him appears to his bold behavior when he spoke in his own behalf before the sentence was pronounced. Boyle's speech is said to have been remarkable for its pluck, daring and originality. The criminal's eyes flashed as he denounced the methods of the prosecution, and he spoke with such eloquence and energy that he was frequently

Grit goes a long way, even with a bad man If Boyle had broken down everybody would have said that his face showed his guilt. But the spectacle of a prisoner in the shadow of the gallows-a young fellow, handsome and high-spirited, facing his accusers and the court, and denouncing them, instead of pleading for mercy, made even his enemies admire his pluck.

No doubt Father Boyle deserves to go to the gallows, but he is not there yet, and some twist in the law-some inexplicable change in public opinion may yet save his

How About the West Point Road.

We have complaints from Newnan that on Monday, the first day of the exposition, the railroad agent at Newnan stated that he had no authority to issue half-rate tickets for the exposition and declined to do it. Our subscribers at that point complain that they were entitled to tickets on Monday under the advertised schedule. How about this?

Mr. B. J. Lowry as School Commissioner It was a gracious and proper thing for more han one hundred teachers of the public schools than one hundred teachers of the public schools to sign a petition urging the council to make a new school commissionership, and elect Mr. R. J. Lowry to that position.

Mr. Lowry to that position.

Mr. Lowry has been a commissioner since the schools were first established except for a time of six months. He has been all the time devoted, earnest and zealous for the schools. The school system has been his habby, and he has defended it everywhere. He would have been re-elected without opposition except that the two new men under the law must come from other wards than his. The teachers without his knowledge, signed a petitionevery teacher signing except four, and ever they indorsing all that was said of Mr. Lowry's worth and fitness—urging the conneil to create a new place and elect Mr. Lowry to fill it. The ouncil on yesterday took the first step in this direction, and it is safe to predict that the outcome will be Mr. Lowry's election to continued service on the board. Atlanta and the schools will profit thereby.

THE woman suffrage movement in Washington territory has had its wings clipped. The proposition to put it in the new constitution has been overwhelmingly defeated.

SIX AMBRICAN cities have zoological gardens. What liberal-minded citizen will make himself famous by enlarging Atlanta's zoological collection? PRIVATE DALZELL is still willing for the whole world to read his private letters. Neither President Harrison nor Brother Blaine are writing to him at present. BEFORE holding the world's fair in Chicago,

New York ought to investigate the facilities offered by Atlanta. THE solvers of problems and riddles should prepare for business. Browning is to publish a ew volume of poems shortly. EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE M. & G. R. R. COMES IN FRIENDS OF THE ROAD FLANK THE OPPOSITION IN A CLEVER WAY.

Mr. duBignon Leads the Fight in the Senate -Mr. Rice's Speech-Mr, Howell Out-Generals the Opposition.

The friends of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad have about triumphed at They have defeated the opposition by a flank movement which is one of the neatest pieces of legislative work that has ever been put through the general assembly.

When Mr. Howell, of Fulton, who was leading the fight for the road, in the house, saw that the bill had a majority of the attendance every time the question came to a vote and only failed to pass because it lacked a few votes of a majority of the whole house, he set to work another way. He pushed another bill, amending the charter of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. by authorizing it to extend its line. This the caption and the bill itself provided for extension of the line from the upper end to connect with the Tennessee line to Knoxville. This was a proposition which even the enemies of the road could not oppose, and the bill passed the house without difficulty. Then it went to the senate, where it was passed.

With an amendment.

And that amendment is the thing that will undo the wrong that has been done north Georgia in heretofore refusing this extension. It simply gives the road the right to build from Marietta to Atlanta.

The bill now goes back to the house for its concurrence in the senate amendment, but concurrence in the senate amendment, but concurrence requires only a majority of those present, and the bill always has had a majority of the attendance of this house. In short the majority has put itself in position to have its way.

DuBignon and Rice to the Rescue.

President duBignon led the fight. Calling President Protem Dupree to the chair he took his place on the floor and called up the bill. When it had been read he offered his amendment letting the road into Atlanta and supported it with the ringing speech which follows:

Mr. President: The purpose of this bill is to empower this corporation to extend its line from Marietta to the city of Atlanta. This statement suggests at once all that has been said against in it favor and all that has been urged against it. We are advised that a similar effort by an independent measure has hitherto been made and that a bill to the same effect is now pending in the other pranch of the general assembly We are also advised and I violate no rule the same effect is now pending in the other branch of tho general assembly. We are also advised and I violate no rule of propriety in stating it upon the floor of the senate that upon the occasion of the effort a majority of representatives present sanctioned it with their vote. That it falled to receive a constitutional majority has in no way shaken my deep conviction that the power asked for should be given and that its witholdment is a palpable wrong and fujustice. The only objection which has been and which I take it, can be urged against this proposed legislatioe, is a fear perchance that it will impair the value of the state's property—the Western and Atlantic railroad. I must contess, Mr. President, that I can bring but little patience to the discussion of this objection, nor would I be understood as falling to appreciate its value to the state. If it be not the El Dorado, which a too fervith declaration has but recently plotured it, nevertheless, it is a magnificent possession, capable of being used in the accomplishment of great good to the people. If my disposition, Mr. President, has never led me to enter the lists with those who aspire to the glittering distinction of being termed a watch dog of the treasurs, I can at least point with confidence to my humble record in either house to sustain the assertion, that at no time and upon no question was I ever indifferent to a conservative and economical administration of her financial affairs. But in a policy which seeks to build up the material interest of the state at the expense of her humblest citizen, much less on that of an entire section is a narrow and a false economy. Werelf discussing it, sir as an abstract proposition controlled by presidents and influenced by a well defined legislative policy I could sustain my position upon every principle which should govern sagacious public conduct. Whatever be the form of government, the state in its true purpose is alone for the citizen. Every violation of this principle is an evil, and the measure of the land, the inconsistency which opposes it is bold and glaring indeed.

"But, sir, when we consider the objections which have been urged against this legislation in the light of our daily practices, by the letter and spirit of our constitution, the fundamental law of the land, the inconsistency which opposes it is bold and glaring indeed.

"With the spirit of your constitution aimed against monopolies, there are yet those who would nurture at the state's breast the mammoth monopoly of the age. It has been said though that the state aided in the construction of this road as a feeder to its own, and therefore, it should never compete with it. If this be true I can only say that the road has outgrown the purpose for which it was built. Strangle it if you will at Marietta the markets of the west are open to it, and traffic which should find its way to Atlanta, and which would seek the water rates of your own seaports of Savannah and Brunswick, will find its way through Knoxville to Norfolk. You cannot force and letter commerce by such a restrictive policy, nor should the effort be made. Let it be, sir, as free as the air we breath, 'twill range creation over and return upon the four winds of heaven to bless the land with plenty.

But, Mr. President will be seriously dented that the proposed extension will add greatly to the state's material wealth. Who will it benefit? Fir t. you the proposed extension will add greatly to the state's merial wealth. Who will it benefit? Fir. you will answer, perhaps, Atlanta. Well, sir, what interest is there in the state which is not to some extent connected and identified with Atlanta's proswill answer, perhaps, Atlanta. Well, sir, what interest is there in the state which is not to some extent connected and identified with Atlanta's prosperity? What property anywhere more than that in her own borders contributes more handsomely to the itte's annual revenues. Herpopple devoted to the own interests are loyal to every interest of Georgia. The flourishing capital of a proud commonwealth is ranidly becoming a great metropolis of the country. We may feel assured as we watch her growth that the same spirit of energy and enterprise which has built up in which her growth that the same spirit of energy and enterprise which has built up in when limits a progressive, intelligent, industrious and Christiau clitzenship will transfuse itself throughout the state, making as it goes a prosperous and a happy people. But sir, there is another section of the state that will be greatly benefitted by this legislation. It is the section, sir, through which this road passes, and which is seeking here upon the floor of its own legislature the poor privilege of being allowed to develop and expand its inviting resources. It is a section, sir, upon which nature with a generous hand has be-towed her choicest gifts. Nowhere does the sun shine forth with a more peerless majesty; nowhere do the stars beam down with a more hope who where the star is above it; hills and valleys that laugh with their fatness are populated by a homeogeneous and thrifty people—a people whose energies and aspirations receive no chill from the dark cloud which obscures the future of less fortunate sections of our state. They are a people sir, whose loyality to the state cannot be questioned. They were tried in the severe crucible of war and with scarcely more at stake than the maintenance of an abstract gove emental principle, tioned. They were tried in the severe crucible of war and with scarcely more at stake than the maintenance of an abstract gove-emental principle, they attested amid numberless scenes of danger and of death an unswering fealty to her sacred sovereguty. Will you, senators, in libis, the hour of their hope, when their quickened energies and their rich resources with outstretched ladened hands are beekoning them onward to a marvelons future, deny them what you daily grant to all others? I am nuwilling to believe that this amendment will find serious resistance here.

Sonator duBignon was applauded; as he sat down.

SENATOR BOYD'S PROVISION.

Senator Boyd threw the fat in the fire when he offered an amendment providing that the road should be built from Ball Ground or Tate to Dahlonega by or before the completion of the line from Marietta to Atlanta.

or before the completion of the line from Marietta to Atlanta.

He reviewed his legislative career to show that he was a friend of the road, saying that he was the one who in the legislature of 1894, had charge of the resolution to relieve the road of $56,900 of debt due the state, which was done on account of the withdrawal of convict labor from the road effer the supreme court decision giving all the convicts to the lasses.

Schaffer Boyd embraced the opportunity to get in a magnificent advertisement for the beauty, health and mineral wealth of the section between Bull Ground and Dahlonega. When he had spoken eloquently of the iron, gold and copper wealth of that region, comparing it to the Birmingham region.

"If your country is so rich in iron and copper," and he, "don't you suppose your company or some one else will-build this road from Bail Grounds".

"They might," rapided Sanator Boyd, "and they night sot, if we were to stand still and set tell you saything about the advantages.

of this development. Then, suddenly turning on Senator Strother, he asked:
"Were you ever as far north as Dahlonegat"

At this the senate roared with laughter.

Senator S rother came back with a like question.

"Yes, sir; I have been nearly all through Georgia."

"Have you been to Lincoln county—the only original Lincoln?"

"Yes, sir."
At this there was great applause.
At the conclusion of his argument, Senator Boyd moves to recommit the bill to the railroad committee. In order to harmonia, if possible, on his amendment.

Senator Rice took the floor against the mo-bensior Boyd said he did not offer the amendment referred to.

Senator Rice took the floor against the motion to recommit.

"I don't believe it would be right to recommit this bill," said he. "There are a great many reasons that could be given why it should not be done.

"This railroad, if it amounts to anything, must come to some commercial center at the time when they are completing it to know/life and its trade will be taken to know/life and the trade will be taken to know/life and to trade will be taken to know/life and the trade will be taken to know/life west. The senator speaks of parties not having visited his country. Thave had the bon on having visited his country and a great people. I admire and like them; I am a friend to his town, and he knows it. I have given have a diagnost institution in his place, and I sak that he withdraw his motion as thatinge fine discussion of this bill. It is now upon its passage, and if passed will accomplish the purpose desired, and recommitted will only delay it. Out time is being exhausted, if puts business back unnecessarily. It is less there a number of days we don't know that it will ever be passed. It has friends here now who will vote for it. We have had a precedent in the Macon and Birmingham nailroad where we would not force the railroad to build to certain towns; we have stood by it in the railroad committee and in this senate, we have repeatedly refused to vote against the charter of the Atlanta and Lithonia railroad to come; should we not give this road the right to come; should we not give this road the right to come; Postponement would done good. The gentleman is as well prepared today to exercise his judgment as he ever will be this s can aid his company and railroad, he knows that I will give him my vote and my speech if it is worth anything.

"We will turn trade into Georgia from East Tenessee. They court this trade from this road and turn our business, developing Tennessee into Georgis. Let this railroad come to Atlanta and the seaboard and wherever they see fit, and do not hamper it. I have never voted against allowing a railroad charter, and I don't him did not him the road ought to have this privilege. It comes to a city that builds up her manufactories that live for the state. Their vast value is taxed and the revenue goes into the coffers of Georgia. This city contributes something like one-thirteenth of the taxes of the state. Would it be right to tell us we shall not build eighteen miles of road from Mariesta?"

"Don't you believe the Dahlonega branch would increase Atlanta's commerce?" said Sanator Boyd. "I do; but I am afraid this company is not strong enough to build both at the same time. I understand it is a struggle for them to get through from Knoxville to Allanta. I don't believe they can get the money to build the branch now. I think that later they can—I don't know their finances. I think the proviso would be very wrong. It would do us no good, and him no good. There are a great many other ways to build that road to Paniloneya. I see in The Coxof the would do us no good, and him he good. There are a great many other ways to build that road to Dahlonega. I see in The Constitution that the Richmond and Danville road is going to extend from Gainesville to Dahlonega. That will necessitate another line to get business. Every rathroad brings another and with another comes wealth."

"If it is built from Dahlonega to Gainesville that will put the business of our section in reach of Athens and Augusta would it not?" asked Senator Boyd.

"If our merchants were not able to compete with Athens they would lose the trade," said Senator Rice, "but I stand here in the firm belief that the merchants of this city will be could be any emercacy and are seen.

The only case tried vesterday was that of A. L. Lawier, who was arrested in Alianta for dosertion from the United States army in September and obtained a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he enlisted when under twenty-one years of age. The case was adjourned until Friday to obtain certain papers bearing on the case.

Six cases were filed in the United States court Monday in compliance with the new law that where one party is a non-resident of the state, and makes an affidavit that he can't get justice, the case shall be removed to the United States court. All of the six cases were brought by residents of Floyd county who were injured in a wreck near Rome two years ago, against the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus road and the Rome and Carroliton Construction company, the last of which companies is lecated in Connecticut. The suits amount to $105,000. city will be equal to any emergency and any competition from any market. They have always had the ability and the tact to do so against the competition of all cities, and in my opinion they will always do it, even thouch the competition should come from Athens and Augusta."

"Is not your prosperity due to railroads?" said Senator Boyd.

"I agree with that. Railroads are good things, and I am for your railroad, but I ask you not to kill this road by trying to get yours at the same time. There is merit and justice in this thing, and it ought to pass. Let the people who are seeking an outlet for their timber and iron and marble, have this privilege. It is now unable to compete with other sections on account of freight rates. It is local freight added to through freight, which makes the price too high. While I would not be willing that this railroad should go on the right of way of the Western and Atlantic railroad, I am satisfied they will never do it."

"Does not the charter prohibit that?" asked Senator Bartlett.
"I am aware that it does," said Senator Rice.

"I am aware that it does," said Senator Rice.

It Passes.

Mr. duBignon offered an amendment to make the caption conform more certainly to the extension clause.

He said Senator Boyd surely could not be in earnest in trying to force this road to build. He thought he had been on the floor to advertise Dahlonega and had succeeded.

Senator McCarty favored the Boyd motion to re-commit, though he said he was in favor of the extension, and was opposed to the Boyd amendment.

WHAT THE RACING IS TO BE.

Tom Kneeland says racing during the exposition is going to be as fine as the south has witer seen.

While from now antil Thursday week the while from now antil Thursday week the race will be principally trotting, from that date on to the close some of the best runners in the country will be here and the races will be good ones. Two Cincinnati stables and a chicago stable have engaged stalls for runners which are to arrive next week. There are now more than fifty runners and trotters here, and by the first of next week there will be at least that many more runners, at many more runners, by Pawnee Bill and Miss Lilly, and the way they shot with rifles was marvelous. Pawnee Bill breaking a number of pigeons held out in the girl's hand.

Then there was the hanging of a horse thief, in which the thief was lassoed, dragged from his horse and thence partially around the track to a tree, from the limb of which he was hanged. The way he kept from SANDY COHEN ON THE PIEBALD STREET. iong killed while dragged over the ground with a rope around his body and the cowboy's borse at full tilt, was indeed wonderful.

Another new feature was "a race for a bride," in which all the cowboys ran after a girl, and as the leader caught her horse, both going at full tilt, gently lifted her from her sadle and placed her in front of his, thereby winning the trophy.

There were other new features, and all those of wasterday were reenacted.

These were other new features, and all those of yesterday were reenacted. During the performance, which commenced at 12 o'clock, and which will, by the way, be given every day at noon and every evening at 7:30, except when there are fireworks, the grand stand was well filled. Indeed the Wild West show contains great attractions for every one who has yet visited the exposition, and by many it has been voted the most interesting. The show is indeed a good one, and should be seen by everybody.

THE WILD WEST LAST NIGHT was even more pleasing to the enthusiastic crowd than any exhibition yet given at the grounds. The crowd was even more enthu-siastic than at the noon performance. The fashes of the guns and the burning of the cabin made the scene wildly realistic.

THE PEOPLE HERE. And What They Have to Say About the Great Piedmont Show.

EOPLE WERE HERE from everywhere yesterday, and while the exposition attendance of Atlan-tians was rather slim, there tians was rather slim, there were two or three thou sand visitors at the grounds during the day

They enjoyed it immensely.

The exhibits in the agricultural and machinery hall are beyond description.

Those who remember the agricultural and mineral exhibits of two years ago, have but a faint idea of those that now occupy the floors of machinery hall. In the words of Colonel W.

B. Henderson, there is absolutely no comparison, and the ingenuity of man seems to have been outdone in the effort to reach the pinnaele of material and artistic success.

cle of material and artistic success.

The amusement features, they say, are the best ever had at a sonthern exposition. The races and the Wild West captured them, and during both the grand stand contained quite a trowd.

Hon. M. P. Reese came up from Washington to see the show. He was driven out to the grounds by President of the Senate duBignon, behind a pair of spanking bays. They took a goed look at the exposition proper and then went to the grand stand to see the Wild West and races.

and races.

"The Wild West caught me," said Mr. duBignon. "It's the best show of the kind I ever saw. The way those cowboys ride the bucking ponies is perfectly wonderful."

"Yes," said Mr. Reese "and if those fellows have to ride like that one did for a bride—well, if we had to de that here few of us would have if we had to do that here few of us would have them. But wasn't the rifle shooting of that girl something wonderful." "It was indeed," replied Mr. duBignon "and for trotting races, these have been about as closs and exciting as one often sees. On the whole it is a wonderful show."

"It certainly is," responded Mr. Reese as they left the grounds.

"The display of agricultural products," said the Hon. Felix Corput, "is better than I sawat any of the fairs or expositions in the farmer's recent trip into Ohio. They show that our superior climate and various soils can produce almost anything grown in the world. Every farmer in the state should come here and see this show. I know every one will learn something of use by so doing."

Mr. Corput was particularly struck with the individual exhibit of preserves by Miss Annie Dennis, in the county collection of Talbort.
"I have been at many fairs and expositions

"I have been at many fairs and expositions and have seen almost countless displays of preserves," he remarked, "but I believe I'll ave to yield the palm to that over them. It eats them all, and is worth a visit clear from ome to see."

"It's a great show," said Colonel George C. Grogan, of Elberton. "Everything is here, but the Indians and the cowboys caught me. I believe if I could stay here a month I should see that show every day, and when I get home I am going to send everybody in Elbert county down here to see it. Yes, the Wild West caught me."

"Something about that exposition," said Hon. Bob Lewis, of Hancock, "has captured the members of the legislature. They were not satisfied, it seems, yesterday, but many wanted to, and did, go again today, and I'll bet there will be a quorum there tomorrow. It's either the races or the Indians. I say, why not adjourn and let those who want to say here go out every day. We are doing noting in the legislature and some of us have business to attend to at home. Those who have no business at home have no lusiness here. But the people will send them, and I think we should adjourn and let those of us who have should adjourn and let those of us who have should aspect to the exposition. It is a spiendid show and I know they will have smoothing from it."

-those at Chicago, St. Louis and Milwaukee," said Mr. J. E. Saunders, of Dalton, "but at none of them did I see a better display of the agricultural resources of the country than is shown here. In my opinion Georgia far outranks her famed western sisters in agricultural possibilities. Comparing what I saw there, the products, individually and collectively, with those in this building today, the Georgiaralsed article is the best every time. Why, just look at those potatoes, that corn, oats, hay, apples—just look at everything. Who could go through these displays and not be convinced that Georgia is the best state in the union. Mark what I tell you, these county exhibits will be heard from in the future."

"Right you are," exclaimed several bystanders. "There's no doubt about that."

ABOUT THE MILITARY.

Grand Drills and a Sham Battle to be Had Next Week, An important and enthusiastic meeting of the directors was held last night at which the principal subject discussed was the great drill and sham battle to be held next week in connection with Governor Hill's visit.

The committee are determined to make it the gala day of the exposition.

The drills are fixed as follows:

Monday—The state competitive and squad drills.

drills.

Tuesday - The interstate drill.

Wednesday - Sham battle and announcement of winning companies.

Captains of state companies are requested to meet at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the Kimball house to enter and draw for places, and of interstate companies in the evening at the same hour.

The programme for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is full from early morning to late at night with interesting features, which will be published in full Sunday.

It is probable that a company from Indian apolis and one from Muscatine, Iowa, will participate in the drills.

FETZER & PHARR 12 Whitehall St.

Whew, how the wind whistles. Riotous gusts threaten to develop into a reg'lar Texas northwester. To the clothier and those lightly clad the air is full of frostiness and heavy clothing hints. So the special thought of the day runs to shere. Manufacturers, this season, were freer and more willing than ever to produce, hence we had a better and larger range of choice. We've provided for the cherubby aged, the grandfather and all the in-be-tweens. There are sizes and styles at this store to be seen that suit the youngster and the older, too.

Take youths for instance; our stock holds just such garments as any young man of right-minded taste would be likely to choose. Modest materials, correctly modeled, handsomely made, neat, serviceable, youthish looking, but neither childish nor manish. Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, October 5 .- The stock market pr sented stronger front today. The change for the better in the monetary situation was the most im-postant factor in this improvement, and tonay most of the business done was at 6 to 7, the were made as high as 8 in the forenoon and as low as 4, toware the close. The London market was all higher for Americans this morning, but the opening here was very irregular and while the Northern Pacific was up 3/4, the Jersey Central was down 1 The trusts early showed considerable strength, but there was yet severe pressure upon the Atchison and the Grangers, in which coal stocks sympathized and the Jersey Central made a material decline in early dealings. Full force was brought to bear upon the grangers after ill o'clock and Burlington especially felt attack severely. The attack upon stock had appearance of drive to buy upon, and while considerable long stock eams ont on the decline, there is reason to believe that heavy lots aimed at, which have been accumulated upon later, was not forthcoming. Talk of the issue of a large amount of incomes to come ahead of stock helped to keep the flow of long stock going. When the pressure was removed the rebound was sharp, and before noon a portion of the loss had been regained. The demand from the shorts made an active and strong market for the time being, and operators for a rise who have held aloof for some time back were encouraged to again take hold though their purchases were made with much cautious. Chicago turned up as a buyer of stocks, and this was accepted as evidence that speculation was changed for the better. In the upward movement there were some very sharp advances made among the specialities and San Francisco preferred, which had sold down to 53 from 50½ last evening, recovered to 58. Cotton oil displayed the most positive strength and followed by sugar. Ma-terial advances were made before the close of busi-ness. Burilington did not quite recover its loss of 2% per cent, but closed only a fraction below last ness. Barlington did not quite recover its loss of 2½ per cent, but closed only a fraction below last night's price. The upward movement continued throughout the afternoon, and while there was some taking of profits, which carried some stocks down slightly below the best figures, the market closed quiet and strong at or near the highest prices of the day. Final change are somewhat irregular, but advances are in the majority. Cotton oil rose 3½, sugar 2½. Tennesse coal 2½, Northern Pacific preferred 1½. Btg Four 1½, Missouri Pacific 1 and others fractional amounts. Sales aggregated 28, 605 snares.

NEW YORK, October 8. - [Special.] - Henry Clews &Co's circular on the cotton market today says In response to the bullish advices sent already by the bulls yesterday predicting serious damage to the crops by frosts, Liverpool opened firmer for futures crops by frosts, Liverpool opened firmer for futures at an advance of 1-8id throughout the list, and a further improvement in prices was recorded in the late trading, and the closing was firm with prices 26 8-6id better than yesterday's figures. The market for spot cotton ruled quiet and steady at 1-16.1 decline of 1-16d with sales of 10,000 bales, middling now being quoted at 6-16d. It was naturally expected that in response to these generally encouraging dispatches our market would open buoyant at the advance, but are preports waver received of frost the advance, but as no reports were received of frost having occurred last night throughout the cotton belt it opened quiet and barely steady at yesterday's final figures. After sagging off a point during the call, telegraphic advices from the south began pour ing in reporting heavy frosts as having occurred during the night throughout Alabama and the Carlinas. There was also reports of ice having formed in some places in South Carolina. The shorts became alarmed over these reports and rushed to cover. Their demands were so aggressive as to cause an change in the sentiment of the market, and all the options scored an advance of 3@6 points. There seemed to be more demand for December and January options than for the others, and the fluctua-tions in these monihs were sharp. Contradictory advices as to the amount of damage done by the frost caused free realizing by the traders, and sub-sequently a reaction set in. The market was ex-tremely sensitive in the late trading. The advance had induced outsiders to come into the market as sellers, and this, together with the fact that cotton is arriving here rapidly, added an uneasy feeling in the market, which continued up to the close, when the final prices ranged from 2 points decline and anchanged to 2@3 points advance. October was the weakest option on the list, while January was the steadlest. Spot cotton ruled heavy and dull at 1/40 decline with sales of only 238 bales, middling being now offered at 10%c. Receipts at the ports today aggregated 52,143 bales, against 43,169 bales last week. We ard in receipt of private telegrams from Atlanta, Angusta, Gaffneys, South Carolina, and Montgomery, Alabama, reporting white frost, but damage slight both in Carolina and Alabama.

NEW ORLEANS, October 8-[Special]—Glenny & Violett, in their cotton circular today, say: The advance today was due to reports of killing trosts, but as the weather moderated here some realizing took place, and the market closes higher than last night. An evidence of considerable short in-terest in all the markets is indicated by this sudden disposition to cover on any indication of unfavorable condition. In addition to this, we think there is considerable bear interest that will be ready to ver should the bureau on Thursday report the loss at many look for. Liverpool showed more ani-tion today in futures, notwithstanding a decline in spots of 1-16c, than has been exhibited there in many days, and a prominent Liverpool firm writes us under date of the 28th of September, that they look for a big demand from the trade, as spinners are absolutely bare of cotton, and they doubt very much whether spots will be quoted below 61/d du ing the month of October. They think distant positions there are selling entirely too low, and that every one recognizes the necessity of a 7½ million crop to keep them in reasonable prices, but which, according to the last bureau report, they cannot figure under the most favorable circumstances. They call attention to the increased consumption of the world during the last three years, which can be found in the Financial Chronicle September 14. page 325, which figures they say are startling. The large receipts at the ports is an element of weakness generally in the market, and it remains to be seen whether it will prove so during October and later months. That the south has been bearish this seamonths. That the south has been bearish this sea-son we think hardly admits of doubt. F. o. b. sell-ers were very shy during the last day or two, and it would seem they are disposed to wait a few days before venturing upon offers to any extent. Our own estimate of the crop, based upon what we think the next bureau will point to, is 734 million maximum, an estimate we have lately committed ourselves to. ourselves to.

Closed quiet; sales 32,800 bales. NEW YORK, October 8-The Sun's cotton review says: Futures opened with the advance of yester-day barely maintained, but fresh frost reports, and in particular a report of a killing frost at Mobile, though not generally credited, led to renewed buying, and prices again advanced a few points. A decline followed when private advices said the frost did no damage, but the scare was still on, and the close was steady.

to trade cautiously. Liberal receipts in the north-west acted as the principal bear feature. Though an increase of 248,000 bushels in the quantity of wheat on passage, as reported by Beerbohm, where a decrease had been expected, it had a tendency to octate an easier feeling. The market here holds steadily most of the day, with fluctuations confined within ½ range, closing ½c lower for December and ½c lower for May than yesterday.

Vere little interest was manifested in corn, which ruled quiet an i inactive a greater part of the session. Fluctuations were narrow and trading of a light local character. The market was devoid of any new features; opened at about yesterday's final quotations, sold off at ½c below yesterday. Cash property was in good demand.

The oat market was pervaded by a duil, weak tone in all its branches early, and there was a heavy along the first was the carry.

The oat market was pervaded by a dull, weak-tone in all its branches early, and there was a heavy closing for both cash and futures. The con-tinuation of yesterday's depression was all the more remarkable in view of the fact that receipts were 10 cars less than estimated. Trading was chiefly in May, and fluctuations were within an extreme range of ½0. Just before the close there was some selling for country accounts. These offerings, torange of ½c. Just before the close there was some selling for country accounts. These offerings, together with consideable throwing off of long properly by local operators broke May to 22c. The slump was attended with considerable excitement. Provisions—October pork deal again claimed considerable attention. A motion for a revival of the injunction dismissed by Judge Shepard has been made in appelate court. Pending its consideration and settlement the clique has decided to adhere to its old policy of refusing new packed pork in settleits old policy of refusing new packed pork in settle-ment of contracts. Yesterday afternoon and this morning its representatives refused several thou-and barrels which were sold for account of "whom it may concorn," at prices ranging from $10.40 early down to $10.15. This pork was bought up mainly by sports. Hutchinson, however, accepted a few lots of "boycotted" articles under protest, claiming that right while the question of legality of delivery was receiving indical considerations. was receiving judical consideration. A good many shorts believe that the clique is working to save time, and by keeping the matter in court to curtail the making of pork, Procrastination is charged to be its ruling purpose, and that when the month is be its ruling purpose, and that when the month is far advanced and packers find themselves unable to make property to meet their contracts, they will be open to compromise. Today October pork sold straight at $9.95 all 0.01; opened at $9.95 and closed at $10.05, or 45c under yesterday. In general trade a strong feeling prevailed. October lard and shortribs and November lard declined 2½c, and January futures 5c all around.

B. HAWTHORNE'S OPINION OF DR.

Mr. J. J. Duffy, one of the most popular mr. J. J. Daily, one of the control retail grocers in the country, comes to the front this morning and offers $25 for the best loaf of bread made out of Duffy's Superlative flour, and exhibited at the coming Piedmont exposition. This is quite a liberal offer, and will, no doubt stimulate a great many people in the culinary line. The flour that Mr. Duffy has been selling—Duffy's Superlative—is said by those who have tried it, to be the very best. This being the case, Mr. Duffy, in making this offer to the ladies of Atlanta, will doubtless secure a large patronage for his floar. It is to be remembered that this loaf of bread is to be made only from Duffy's Superlative, and no other flour will be brought into competition. Mr. Duffy is not afraid to compete with other flours, but feeling that his flour is the best of all, offers $25 as a prize to the one making the finest loaf of bread out of it. retail grocers in the country, comes to the front

It might be added in this connection that Mr. Duffy has been styled one of the leading retail grocers of Georgia. He keeps everything that is usually kept in a grocery store, and sells his goods at a reasonable profit. Being located on one of the finest streets in the city, Peachtree, he has a fine trade among the best class of people.

Now young ladies and old ladies, all who cook and all who eat, remember that Mr. Duffy offers the handsome sum of $25 for the best loaf of bread made out of Duffy's Superlative flour, exhibited at the exposition company. The company will appoint judges to Ladies visiting Atlanta are invited to call and conselt, if needed, Atlanta's most eminent female physician, Mrs. Rosa F. Monnish, M. D., the first and only female physician in her specialty south. She occepies with her husband, Dr. W. A. Monnish, the elegant three-story building at the junction of Peachtree, North Forsyth and Church streets, erected for her special use. Ladies' reception rooms, office and dispensary situated on first floor, while the two upper stories are used for a sanitarium. All modern conveniences, hot and cold water, gas, electric calls, etc., in every room: in fact, acknowledges the handsomest and best appointed sanitarium, enjoying the most liberal patronage of the ladies south. This sanitarium is not to be compared with other institutions or sanitariums, as the sanitarium and dispensary of Mrs. Dr. Monnish is for Indies only, and therefore strictly private. All patients remaining in the sanitarium receive separate rooms and enjoy the privileges and comforts of a first class home.

Interesting Thought

200,000 Estey Organs.

200,000 Estey Organs have been manufactured. Think of it. Try and realize what it means. It sone crgan finished every week since Noah built

Do you suppose it would be possible, with a sufficient number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compile in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it would certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had laken so long a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 200,000 organs in 1888.

They have actually been building their famous Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ in thirty-five minutes. And not building them only. They have sold them.

No other organ can show such sales. What does It prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the favortie, that it is the best value for the money invested, that it has been the choice with the majority of persons who have purchased organs.
You can't make any mistake up choosing an ES-

DE. J. B. HAWTHORNE'S OPINION OF DR. KING'S EOYAL GREMETURE.

It gives me real pleasure to say a word for a medicine which I believe is destined to be a great blessing to the afflicted. It is not the cunning devise of a quack, butthe discovery of a scientist. It is the result of many years of research and experiments by an eminent specialist. Thousands of my southern fields know what a sufferer from catarri I have been. Six months ago, by the advice of my physician, I gave up the pastorate. I have used two bottles of "King's Royal Germeteur." and while I cannot say that I am completely cured, I do affirm that it has so far relieved me I experience no pain of discomfort. I feel it is my duty to say also that the effect of this remedy upon my wife have been seen more signal and wonderful. She has been almost a lifetong invalid from nervous headache, neursica and rheumatism. FEAR OR LOVE?

MRS. PATTERSON RÉFUSES TO TES-TIFY AGAINST HER HUSBAND.

led Woman Helped Into Court Her Husband's Threatening Eyes Intimidate Her-Scenes in Court,

idate Her-Scenes in Court,

Mrs. J. J. Patterson, who was frightfully stabbed six weeks ago by her husband in Grant park, refused yesterday to testify against the man who has attempted her life three times.

The story of the tragedy is still fresh in the public memory. The day after it occurred The Constitution told how the jealous husband met his wife while she was with another man, and plunged his knife again and again into her body.

Some years ago Patterson cut his wife's throat and her life was saved only by a miracle. He made other attempts upon her hie.

Yesterday Patterson was brought to trial, and Prosecuting Attorney O'Bryan felt confident that the mangled wife would be the only witness necessary to convict him of assault with intent to kill.

sary to convict him of assault with intent to kill.

A few minutes before the time appointed for the the trial Mrs. Patterson was led into the court room. She could hardly walk, even with the help of the crutches which supported her, and her pale face showed the suffering she has endured since the evening she visited Grant park. She sank back into a chair immediately in front of the indge's desk, widerfily exhausted by the exercise she had made in reaching the court room.

All her weariness left her, however, a few minutes later when the side door of the court room opened and her husband was led in. As he came near her an expression of fear came over her face which never left it again while he was in the room. The prisoner was given a chair next Mr. R. J. Jordan, his counsel, a few yards to one side of his wife. He looked nervous, and his black eyes snone with excitement. He also showed his anxiety by constantly raising his hauds to the collar of his fiannel shirt. His eyes kept wandering towards his wife with an expression divided between menace and entreaty. All the time the jury was being chosen this interchange of glances was kept up. When the jury had been sworn in, Mr. O'Bryan dismissed all the witnesses in the case except Mrs. Patterson until today. He then told Judge Clark he was ready to go on, and called his main witness to the chair.

As soon as she was seated Mr. Jorden rose, and, looking at her hard, said: "I wish to tell Mrs. Pat-

As soon as she was seated Mr. Jorden rose, and looking at her hard, said: "I wish to tell Mrs. Pat terson that there is no law requiring a wife to be witness against her husband unless she wishes to do so."

"That is undoubted;y a fact," admitted Mr.
O'Bryan. Then he turned to the witness and said
"What is your name?"
"Mrs. J. J. Patterson."
"The wife of that man," pointing to the prisoner.
"Yee"

"Yes."
"How long have you been married?"
"Seven years."
"Do you remember being assaulted in Grant ark?"

"Yes."
"Who hurt you?"
"Then came a long pause. Mrs. Patterson twined her fingers together, and was evidently trying to avoid her husband's eyes, which were eagerly fixed on her. At last, in a voice scarcely above a whissele said: per, she said:
"I don't care to tell."

"I don't care to tell."
"Do you refuse to answer the question?"
There was no answer. Still the twining of the fingers and the effort to look away from her husband.
"She can't be forced to answer," interrupted Mr. "I should like to see the law on the case," said "I should like to see the law on the case," said Judge Clark.
"It is," said Mr. O'Bryan, "that a wife, though a competent, is not a compelable witness."
He turned to the witness and again asked: "Do you still refuse to answer my question?"
Mrs. Patterson's nervousness became painful to witness. She pulled off her gloves, and finally exclaimed: "I hate to say. I feel that I ought to, but I don't like to tell."
"Do you refuse to answer my question?"
An expression of determination at last appeared on Mrs. Patterson's face. She opened her lips to speak. She looked up; caught her husb ind's eyes fixed on her. She hesitated again, then looking at the man who tried to murder her, she said, quietly:
